Parents Making Autistic Children Drink Bleach To 'Cure' Of Disease

By Ana-Marija Dolaskie — January 30, 2018

It sounds like something right out of a horror movie, but it's real life. Parents in the United Kingdom — desperate to cure their children of autism — fall prey to snake oil, and to the con men that sell it. But this type of snake oil — doing away with autism by drinking bleach, is deadly.