

Dispatch: Banning BPA

By ACSH Staff — August 2, 2010

The New York State Legislature successfully upheld its reputation as a scientifically misinformed governmental body when Gov. David Patterson officially signed into law a ban against BPA in children's products <sup>[1]</sup> over the weekend.

“We can no longer call them the ‘do-nothing Legislature’ because they finally did do something, even though it was counterproductive,” points out Dr. Ross.

If we had enough space, we’d offer all of the members of the Legislature a seat in the ACSH soundproof chamber.
