Give to ACSH on Giving Tuesday!

By Hank Campbell — November 24, 2016

Dear Friend of ACSH:

December 1 is #GivingTuesday, and the American Council on Science and Health is excited to be a part!

It's easy and fun to get caught up in the consumerism of the holiday season with days like Black Friday and Cyber Monday. That is why #GivingTuesday, a day dedicated to charitable giving, volunteering, and doing good for others, is so important to us. It will be 24 hours of unprecedented giving to nonprofit organizations, and it's your chance to make a real difference.

As you know, The American Council on Science and Health is a nonprofit, 501(c)(3) organization dedicated to advancing scientific awareness for the public good on issues related to food, chemicals, pharmaceuticals, lifestyle, the environment, and human health. We are the public's trusted guide for evidenced-based scientific advocacy. Click here to make a generous, secure, tax-deductible gift to ACSH today and honor the spirit of #GivingTuesday [1]. All donations will be used to advance our scientific and educational programs that include new studies on: concussions, salt and the diet, scare journalism, and an exposé on regulatory decisions based on hazards versus risks. Check out ACSH.org [2] to learn more about our current activities.

Thank you for your generosity.

Sincerely, [3]
Hank Campbell, President

P.S. Please encourage family and friends to support our cause as well. Thank you!
